Gilmore's Baton.

When Gilmore was in Minneapolis during the exposition in 1888 the music of his band was transferred to a phonograph, and he afterward heard it.

"That is wonderful, grand!" exclaimed Gilmore. "It's all there but my little stick and the tap tap of the alto horn's reel."

The "little stick" was his baton. It was made of white wood, and he always carried it when at the head of his band.

"I have a dozen or more batons," said the popular leader one day, "but none of them compares with this little stick. I can tap on the edge of my music stand with this, and it will not spoil it. My other batons would be ruined, so I keep them locked up."

During his continental tour he was presented with magnificently decorated batons in every country. Some of them were diamond-tipped, and all were gold-trimmed.—New York Advertiser.

The Study of Philately.

Philately is a study. It is a pursuit that adds more to the life of the young collector than any other of his pleasures.

Philately in the present generation is assuming vast proportions as an instructive science and is even now a formidable rival of numismatics. No longer is it called a mania or a craze, but a science teaching the geography, history, language and the morals of a country.

Our philatelists are not mere schoolboys and girls, although they collect stamps, but men of mature minds, men well established in business and professions, men of sound judgment, intellectual and thoughtful men. And it is this fact that gives the young collector encouragement, the knowledge that such men do exist in the ranks of philatelists.—Ohio State Journal.

Democratic new York city.

For the first time in the history of politics New York city will be represented by a solid delegation of Democrats in congress, the state senate, the assembly and board of aldermen. Why, even the veteran Colonel Thomas Dunlap, who voted for Andrew Jackson, cannot remember when such a thing ever happened. Think of it—not a Republican congressman, not a Republican senator, not a Republican assemblyman, not a Republican alderman to represent the G. O. P. of this city!—New York Herald.

Ethan Allen's Reply.

While Ethan Allen was held a prisoner in New York an offer was made him of a large tract of land in Vermont or Connecticut, as he preferred, provided he would espouse the cause of England. His reply is characteristic:

"If by fidelity I have recommended myself to General Howe, I shall be loath by unfaithfulness to lose the general's good opinion."—Youth's Companion.

When Music Was in Ill Repute.

The objection of the nonconformist conscience to musical instruments did not stay at organs, but was extended to fiddles and harps. The drum was almost the sole instrument which was not Babylonish and anti-Christian and could be heard with no uncomfortable scruples. Neither did that curious conscience object simply to the use of the harp and the fiddle upon the village green after the common evening song on Sunday afternoons, but objected to them even upon the week days.

"To be a harper or fiddler was to be a sinner. Any money earned by playing a harp or viol was the 'wages of iniquity.'—London Saturday Review.

NATIONAL EXPENSES

It is stated in the debates in the House of Representatives that the appropriations made by this Congress would reach $1,000,000,000 against $983,000,000 made by the last Congress. One member of the Committee on Appropriations estimated a probable deficiency to June 30, 1894, of $16,996,500. This estimate is based on appropriations and revenues and the actual expenditures of the current fiscal year, which are likely to reach $258,110,340. Taking the statement of the Secretary of the Treasury the conclusion is irresistible that public expenditures must be materially reduced or taxation increased or a new issue of bonds made to meet impending liabilities.

The McKinley bill, while it increased the duty on many articles, put sugar on the free list. This alone reduced the revenue nearly $80,000,000, and in addition the duty on sugar amounts to over $8,000,000, which has to be paid out of the Treasury from the revenue derived from taxation of other articles. Assuming that the statement made on two floors of the House by McKinley, who is a member of the Committee on Appropriations, is correct unless the expenditures are reduced increased taxation will be absolutely necessary to meet them. The country will not sanction the issue of new bonds, that is an increase of the national debt, to pay bounties to Louisiana sugar planters or to build up tin plate and other monopolies and enable the Pacific Mail and other companies subsidized by the Government to declare large dividends. If the country is as prosperous as the single standard advocates say it is, why, in a time of profound peace, has the Government to issue bonds to get gold to supply the European demand for that metal?

DE LESSEPS DISGRACED

French justice under the Republic is not respecter of persons. Several men of note, among them Comte Ferdinand de Lesseps, have been found guilty of a swindling and breach of trust in connection with the Panama canal scheme. De Lesseps, who is now 88 years of age, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment and a fine of 5,000 francs. He has been one of the greatest civil engineers of the age. He conceived the idea of connecting the Mediterranean and the Red Sea by a canal across the isthmus of Suez. He organized a company for the building of the canal in 1859 and ten years later the waters of the two seas mingled in the Bitter Lakes and a water way opened which shortened the distance from Europe to the Indies and China thousands of miles. When 75 years of age he undertook to connect the Atlantic and Pacific by a canal across the Isthmus of Panama. He organized a company for the building of the canal in 1879 and ten years later the waters of the two seas mingled in the Bitter Lakes and a water way opened which shortened the distance from Europe to the Indies and China thousands of miles. THE NINES MUST BE OPENED.

The St. Louis public, which supported Cleveland for President, does not endorse his financial policy. It is an able advocate of free coinage and cannot be swayed from its devotion to silver by party threats or promises. It says the financial policy of the United States must not be dictated by Wall Street and if the Democratic party surrenders to the goldbugs its back will be broken across the Alleghenies. In a recent issue it contains the motto that the mints must be open and the following forcible language: "No amount of note printing will bring down the price of gold, forced up by the demonetization of silver. And before there can be any permanent advance in the price of our exported raw plus of wheat, cotton and other agricultural products the price of gold must come down to its natural level. Before that is possible the mints must be opened and silver must be coined to the full limit of the supply. On that issue, when once it is forced, the valley States will be solid, and they will crush the life out of any party that tries to substitute a private paper currency for the money of the people's mints."

JUDGE ALLEN, who has been elected United States Senator from Nebraska, says no man holds a written pledge from him in regard to the distribution of patronage or the organization of the Senate. He does not believe Cleveland's Administration should be obstructed in the fair conduct of the Government. He favors the free coinage of silver and in this respect he may differ with the Administration.

A VERY DISASTROUS VOYAGE

Hall and Fitzsimmons to Meet in the Pacific Ring.

HAWAII TO BE ANNEXED.

A Disastrous Voyage.

Glasgow, Scotland, Feb. 11.—The Atlantic steamer Pomeranian, from Glasgow for New York, returned here after a troubled experience. When about twelve hundred miles out, during a heavy storm, everything above deck was swept away by a huge wave which boarded the vessel when nobody was prepared for it.

The Pomeranian encountered boisterous weather immediately after leaving port. It was thought the wind would soon blow itself out, but instead of abating it increased in severity until the day of disaster. The 4th of February dawned with a furious gale and a tremendously high sea was running. The hatches were battened down and covered with tarpaulins; the ventilators turned leeward and every precaution dictated by good seamanship had been taken to prevent the water from getting below. Several seas were shipped, but they caused no damage. Suddenly a tremendous sea reared its crest a short distance ahead of the steamer as she plucked down the waves. Before she could rise the sea came over her starboard bow and tons of green water ran aft. Almost at the same time a falling wave stern came aboard. The result almost defies description. The deck saloon, chart house, bridge and boats were smashed to pieces and partly washed overboard. The deck was covered with almost an impenetrable mass of wreckage and almost confusion reigned. At first the full extent of the disaster was not known. The steamer began to pitch before the wind and sea and it was at once seen that the quartermaster had been carried overboard. Two sailors sprang to the wheel and soon put the steamer on her course. Then it was found that Captain Dalziel was missing. He was last seen standing on the lee side of the steamer, at the saloon, in conversation with a saloon passenger named John Stewart. They were both dashed against the deckhouse and carried with terrific force and jammed beneath the after steam winches. Captain Dalziel's legs were broken and he sustained internal injuries. He was carefully removed to his room, but he died next morning. Stewart's legs were also broken and he sustained other injuries from the effects of which he died in a few hours.

At the time of the accident Second Officer John Cook was on the bridge with John Hamilton, the Fourth Officer, and both of them were carried overboard and drowned. In the saloon deckhouse when the sea broke over the steamer there were Jas. Gibson and Lillian Gibson of Dalketh and Jane Caffery of Londonberry, all cabin passengers. They were carried over the side and were not afterward seen. David Forbes of Dundee, a second cabin passenger, and James Fritchard and Fred Westbury, stewards, were also lost in the same manner.

When the sea boarded the steamer every man about the deck who saw it coming grabbed hold of stanchions or anything else convenient, and it was due to this that the loss of life was not much larger.

For a time utmost consternation prevailed, but this gave way to a feeling of sadness when it was found so many lives were lost. With Captain Dalziel fatally injured and unconscious in the cabin the command of the steamer devolved upon the first officer. When the chartroom was carried away charts, sextants and quadrant, in fact everything absolutely essential to the navigation of the ship, went with it. The binocular box and compass on the bridge were also gone and had it not been that the after compass remained it is doubtful if the steamer would have reached a port for many days yet. The situation of affairs was terrible, the first officer called the remaining officers of the steamer to a consultation and it was decided to put about and return to Greenock. This was at once done and without any instruments with which to take observations, the voyage had to be made entirely by dead reckoning and was necessarily slow. The first officer was highly commended for his skill in a manœuvre in navigating the Pomeranian under such adverse circumstances.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The session of the House to-day was without result. The attempt of the Democrats to limit the time for debate on the Pension Appropriations bill was finally resisted by the Republicans and the minority came out victorious. The result was that without the termination of the general debate the House adjourned.

SENATE.—The Senate report of the bill to promote the safety of employees and travelers upon railroads by compelling the railway companies to equip the cars with automatic couplers and continuous air brakes was finally disposed of in the Senate to-day by a substitute for the House bill of the last session, which was agreed to and the bill passed, yeas, 39, nays, 10.

The only other important piece of legislation done was agreeing to a conference report on the Fortifications bill and making the Nicaragua Canal bill unfinished business.

A Quarry Accident.

ROSLAND, Vt., Feb. 11.—One of the worst disasters in the history of marble quarrying occurred at West Rutland, a little after 1 o'clock this afternoon. In a quarry operated by the Vermont Marble Company, a great mass of stone fell into the quarry and seven men were instantly killed and a number of others injured. The victims were crushed so that none could not be recognized. Those killed were Wm. Lukes, Frank Sullivan, Edward Powers, Alexander Blumquist and three unrecog-nized men.

As soon as the accident happened the electric danger signal was rung in the company's offices, and the mills and work everywhere in West Rutland and Rutland were called by telephone and responded quickly. Scores of men were also sent down into the quarry and soon the news spread to the street and hundreds of men, women and children hurried to the quarry and by 5 o'clock the vicinity was crowded. In the crowd there were many relatives of the dead or injured and they were frantic with grief.

The quarry, far near the extreme end of the accident, was under the hill. The killed and some of the injured were buried under tons of rock and the work of rescue was necessarily difficult.

The cause of the caving is not positively known.

The Deadlock Still on.

OLYMPIA, Feb. 11.—Thirty-four days of the session of the Legislature have passed without the election of a United States Senator. Although the Republicans have a majority of forty there is apparently no prospect of a speedy termination of the deadlock. Allen's full strength, so far developed, is 51, within six of the number required to elect Turner still holds his 24 votes and Dulbar has one. The Democrats and Populists have voted constantly for their candidates and have shown no disposition to take a hand in the election of a Republican.

Hall Confident

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 11.—If the physical condition and confidence can be taken as a criterion of a pugilist's capabilities, Jim Hall should certainly win a victory on March 3, when he and Bob Fitzsimmons will contend before the Crescent City Athletic Club at New Orleans for the extraordinarily large purse of $40,000. No man ever entered the ring, it is safe to say, with more hopes of defeating his opponent than will Jim Hall on the night of the fight. Hall now tips the beam at 168 pounds.

Hawaii Will be Annexed.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Star says it is learned on good authority that the Government has practically committed itself in favor of the proposition for the annexation of Hawaii, and the President will send a message to Congress on the subject next week. It is known that the Commissioners are satisfied with the present status of negotiations, and expect tangible results in a short time.

DEATH PREVENTED TO JAIL.

The Assistant Postmaster at Spokane sent a Bullet Through His Brain. A Spokane, Washington, dispatch says: On the morning of the 9th instant George Silvey, Assistant Postmaster, killed himself this morning by sending a bullet through his brain. The tragedy was enacted in his room and in the presence of his room mate, but without a moment's warning.

Silvey came from Chicago and had been employed in the Postoffice for three years. The reason for the deed was a short gap in his accounts. He drew a large salary, but with a half-fellow-well-met and spent money with a lavish hand. His income was insufficient to make both ends meet, in the way he liked.

The Inspector of the Postal Department arrived in the city yesterday for the purpose of making his annual inspection. A discrepancy was soon discovered and Silvey was confronted with the shortage, but as it was past banking hours the authorities were unable to prove the charge until this morning. Several large errors were discovered, but Silvey persisted that everything would be right when the bank opened in the morning.

A careful checking up of his books shows a total shortage of $7,100. He was under $10,000 bonds to the Postmaster, with his mother in Chicago and a prominent business man here as sureties. His parents reside in Chicago and are highly respected people.

They are both well advanced in years. The deceased was about 40 years of age and unmarried. The remains will likely be shipped East to his former home for interment.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she became a Girl, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Brightened Into a Fever.

Friedrich of Prussia was killed by fear. His wife was insane, and one day she escaped from her keepers, and dabbling her clothes in blood rushed upon her husband while he was dining in his chair. King Frederick imagined her to be the white lady whose ghost was believed to appear whenever the death of a member of the royal family was foretold, and he was thrown into a fever and died in six weeks.—Dr. Elder in Washington Post.

Accustomed to Being Waylaid. There was a Bavarian prince who was so entirely accustomed to being continually waylaid and followed about by his admiring throng that once on coming out of the Frankfurter Church (Church of Our Lady), feeling himself held back by the crowd, he turned abruptly round and angrily exclaimed, "This is really not the place!" before he saw, to his relief, that it was only his cloak which had hitched in passing, on a nail.—Exchange.

A New Rose.

It is curious that the greatest attraction of the chrysanthemum show should be a new rose, magnificent clusters of which are to be found in the foyer. It is called the American Belle, and it is a sport from the American Beauty. John Burton, of Chestnut Hill, a great rose grower, while growing American Beauties found this variation, and this sport of nature will bring him a small fortune. It happens that as the American Beauty fades it grows darker, and therefore loses its delicacy. The sport is lighter, and as it fades grows lighter still—pales and pales, like a fading maiden dying with unrequited love or consumption.

It is an artistic rose, and has made a great hit. It has taken two silver cups—one at the New York show just closed. It got a silver medal at the Boston show, and it takes the medal in the show here. So of course it must be a beauty. Half a dozen firms of florists have offered to take all the flowers Mr. Burton has made at his own prices. As yet he has made no cuttings for the market, so that he has a monopoly of the flower.—Philadelphia Times.

HOW MANY deaths have been the result of treating with unscrupulous demagogues. How many deaths have been caused by the use of poison (morphine, acconite, strychnine, belladonna, etc.) In how many cases has death been hastened by the use of mineral (mercury, iron, zinc, chloral). In how many cases have men and women been ruined for life by the use of the ever ready knife, at the hands of a so-called Specialist.

How many people there are who go from doctor to doctor and from hospital to hospital, suffering from a complication of diseases, and being treated for first one thing and then another, and never realizing the least benefit. Never in any case having received anything but a combination of mineral poisoning, and as a consequence, accelerated misery and distress.

To such the discovery of a doctor who understands his or her case, who applies a common sense treatment and relieves the sufferer from pain and distress by Nature's remedies, is like a flash of heavenly light from a dark and overcast sky.

Cleanliness is Next to Godliness.

THE IRRIGATION BILL.
What the Lovelock Payer Says About It.
The New Era, published at Lovelock, has the following:
"There is much discussion in this section over the water bill introduced by Senator LaGrave providing for the proper distribution of the waters of the State. A number of our prominent farmers favor the measure, while many oppose any legislation to that direction, fearing the results. Naturally, the will of the farmers will be considered, in fact the farmers of the State will make or defeat the measure and as there is ample time elapsing between the introduction of the bill and the final vote, undoubtedly an expression of approval or disapproval will be forwarded to Carson in time. Some one has said a 'mystery' surrounds the introduction of the measure. We believe such expressions to be ill-advised and coming from undue suspicion, for if there was any motive clandestinely concocted we are positive Senator LaGrave would not be a party to the scheme, and furthermore, farmers should not consider a measure so important from a biased standpoint, for none are so unfit to judge merits or demerits as all-suspicious individuals. Yet there are cool-headed, well calculating farmers on the Big Meadows who oppose the bill because they are of the opinion that it will not as well preserve their rights as the present law, and it is not more than just that their opinions should have great weight in the present movement, though they should carefully consider, not only the present condition of affairs, but more so the future.
"But, as a conclusion, the New Era will state that this paper will abide by the wishes of a majority of the water claimants of Big Meadows who have undoubtedly given the subject more study than the editor, and if they decide the proposed law impracticable we shall not contend to the contrary.
"The San Francisco Chronicle, speaking of the bill, says: 'We shall make no attempt to criticize the bill for the measure is a tentative one and is not open to criticism until it has been tried.'"
ANOTHER INDUSTRY.
Mason Valley is Going to Have a Starch Factory.
The Phoenix Creamery Company of Mason Valley, is contemplating putting a plant in their creamery for the purpose of manufacturing starch. This article will be manufactured from potatoes, and it is claimed they will make a first-class quality of starch. The company estimates that it can manufacture about 400 or 500 pounds of starch from a ton of potatoes. The average crop of potatoes that can be raised in Mason valley is about eight tons to the acre, and farmers agree to furnish the potatoes to the company for $10 per ton. At this rate the potato crop would be the most advantageous that could be raised. The company estimates that if it can realize 45 per cent or possibly 50, it can make a neat profit in manufacturing the starch. Besides this, it is stated that the pulp left after the starch is extracted from the potatoes is fine food for hogs. This being the case hogs could be fed in large numbers and fattened on this pulp. The company is making inquiries to learn all about the business, and if it comes to the conclusion that there is money in it, the plant will be put up before potato planting time so the ranchers can plant for this market.—Lyon County Times.

FISH AND FIREWATER.
Indians Change One into the Other.
Fish and firewater make a rather grotesque combination, but the Indians are making it work like a charm. People who think that Pyramid lake abounds in nothing but fine specimens of the funny tribe are badly mistaken. Metaphorically speaking, the Indians, with their hooks and lines draw out from the water small flocks of the liquid that befuddles. Wednesday night's party of about eight Indians arrived here laden with a fine lot of fine fish. Some stopped in Winnemucca to sell their fish yesterday for Friday consumption, while the others went on to Battle Mountain. It is singular how well the Indians know the market and settle upon the most advantageous time for selling fish and game. Bright and early yesterday morning the Indians who went to Battle Mountain were up and selling their fish. The shadow of night was just being lifted from the land when the first Indian showed signs of inebriation. Then one after another they all got drunk. "Cholly," a youthful buck, got howling drunk and made such a noise that he was run in. While in "hook," he yelled like a madman and sang woe songs. The other Indians returned westward last night leaving poor Cholly to his fate. They all showed signs of having ample jags, but Cholly's unseemly behavior seemed to deepen the dignity and decorum of their deportment. Cholly admitted that all his fish had melted into firewater but would not tell who gave the liquor to him. Though the other Indians were questioned they would not tell and the source of the bug jades still remains a mystery. Cholly is still repining in the calaboose.—Silver State

Accident to Conductor Taylor.
Charley Taylor, conductor on the N.-C.O., met with a painful accident while coming in Monday. He was leaning over the steps of the passenger coach, when he was struck above the eye by a board that was overhanging the track in such a way that the train passing would not quite touch it. The result was a bad gash in which Dr. Aiken had to take several stitches. Mr. Taylor says it does not hurt but he has to wink the wrong eye to the ladies.—Amesbury Geyser.
